Ex-SAS Amputee Reaches NSW on Final Legs of his 10,000km Charity Ride to Support Injured Veterans

One-legged Vietnam veteran Laurie 'Truck' Sams SC crossed the Murray River into NSW today on the final stages of an epic six-month, 10,000km bike ride from Hanoi to Sydney to raise awareness of veteran suicide and post-traumatic stress disorder.

Since crossing the border from South Australia a fortnight ago the 67-year-old former Special Air Service warrant officer has taken part in a range of RSL and council-organised events to publicise the need for more government action for trauma-related injury.

"The response is amazing. Everyone seems to be aware of the damage PTSD is inflicting on our troops and veterans, and they're coming out in droves to wish me well," he said on crossing the border from Wodonga today.

Truck lost his left leg below the knee in a parachute accident in 1995 and suffers PTSD from operating in five-man, deep penetration SAS patrols in Vietnam in 1969-70. He was awarded a Star of Courage for saving the life of his student parachutist in the accident that cost him his left leg.

RSL sub-branches, town councils and businesses from Nhill and Horsham in Western Victoria through to Violet Town, Benalla and Wangaratta on the Hume Freeway laid on wreath layings, flower plantings, museum visits, musical presentations and barbecues to support the ride.

A police escort accompanied the lone rider and his support team to breakfast with local dignitaries at The Cube performing arts theatre in Wodonga today ahead of a welcome reception by Albury and Wodonga RSL members at Albury's Sailors, Soldiers and Airmen's Club this afternoon.

More RSL and civic events are planned for Holbrook, Wagga, Gundagai, Yass and Canberra, where Truck and his team will attend Remembrance Day at the War Memorial then move to Government House for afternoon tea with the Governor-General Sir Peter Cosgrove AK MC (Retd).

Truck and his trusty Trek bike have logged 108 days and 9550km of riding since leaving Hanoi on May 12 carrying an Australian flag he wants to hand to the Prime Minister when he passes through Canberra on Remembrance Day.

"We had to contend with bucketing rain and the chaotic roads of Asia in the monsoon season, almost being beheaded by a front-end loader on Route 1 in Vietnam, and sliding under an out-of-control gravel truck in heavy mud down near Vinh city," he said.

"But the toughest test has been the Nullarbor because of its sheer remoteness and the unusually bad weather we encountered there and in the West Australian wheat belt where we were whipped by 85 knot winds straight off the Antarctic."

Truck said while the first half of his ride was aimed at building a better understanding between Australia and our Asian neighbors, his Australian message concerned raising awareness of PTSD injury and suicide - not just amongst veterans but serving soldiers and civilian emergency workers as well.

"The response has bowled me over, not just in the number of people who've heard about the ride but by how many are waving and tooting their horns or stopping us to pop a few bucks in the charity bucket. We're supporting three leading PTSD charities and almost everyone from truck drivers to grey nomads, farmers and ordinary townsfolk are coming forward with donations."

He said sponsors were still being sought and anyone interested in donating or finding out more about the ride and our charities could go to www.thelongridehome.com.au.

The Long Ride Home's patron is former Australian Governor-General Major General Michael Jeffery AC, AO(Mil), CVO, MC (Retd), a former Governor of Western Australia and Commanding Officer of the Perth-based SAS Regiment.
